Energy crystals are a useful item in Portal Knights, and is essential for many end-of-game recipes as well as many vanity recipes. You usually need a lot of them once you're done with the basic story in the game, but it's actually possible to purchase them even if you're low level, so new players can also learn how to stock up on them. There are currently two good ways to get energy crystals and we'll look at both of them below. The only way to reliably get energy crystals at low levels is to make events that randomly appear in your world. They are available for a limited time, and many of them either have enemies who have a decent chance of giving up energy crystals (look mainly for Araktula Invasion events if you want farm mobs. They have a 5% drop chance each) or they reward you with energy crystals to complete them. Event Chests also seems to have a good drop rate for energy crystals, so make sure to always rob them! All storm events (such as SandStorm or Electro Thunder Storm) require you to destroy three crystals, and each of these crystals will fall one energy crystal each. So it's also good to look at, since you get a guaranteed 3 crystals of energy to perform the 5-minute event. You can of course also do this method at higher levels or even at the maximum level, but the option below will give you a better return on energy crystals per hour if you are able to do so. Tomb C'Thiris is the end of the game area with level 35 monsters, so it's not something you want to go before you reach the level of the cover and got yourself some decent gear. You can get to this area by creating C'Thiris Tesseract in Altar IV. This item costs 10 x stone and 1x Energy Crystal for craft, so it's not a good option to get energy crystals if you don't already have one. Look for sarcophagi in the tomb of K'Tiris, and open them with a pickaxe to get prey. While most of them won't give you energy crystals, some of them will, so keep looking for them and open them up to get a lot of energy crystals. All the monsters in this area have a chance to give up energy crystals as well, but much less frequently compared to opening sarcophagi. I wouldn't advise anyone farm enemies to get energy crystals, but instead look at it as a bonus if you get one from accidentally killing the enemy. 6 comments new update today added in crystal weapons and more, and for me to work out one of these I need crystal energy. Where do we get them?? People see Order and Chaos as separate. when they're actually the same. I was trying to figure it out, too. Wondering if you need a recipe, I don't see it as a resource on any of the islands, so I don't know. I noticed in the description of the new release 0.4.0 that there will be crystal blocks, wondering if you have already created the universe before the crystal blocks that your worlds will then actually have no crystal blocks? Because your universe has already been created them we may be unlucky until you create a new one. I can check it out tonight when I get home from work. Check out the events! ☺ That's all we're talking about... It's amazing, I like it. This answer was changed 4 years, 4 months ago Spineshank. Also, the last boss drop recipe for the new color crystal block I managed to get 2 after this 7 or 8 events. I got one from a snow event that I couldn't complete. There were 3 crystals of snow on the island and I only ever found one after 45 minutes of clearing the island. I got another one as a reward for completing later events, but no other events after that gave me crystals. I really want a crystal bow, and yet it will take forever in this case... It will take 12 crystals to make. You found them in the case of breasts basically I had one event ever that involved breasts to find. Most events just go away when I finish them. No special drops (sometimes wall plaque), no crystals. It is ok? green crystal and red crystal recipe from the two first boss. Another recipe come from the last boss. For the energy of the crystal it falls in the chest event and in a snowy case when you destroy 3 crystals of snow I am very lucky and got 5 of them at the beginning of the first two events, but now, for more than a week, not one event with crystal energy. It really sucks. Sure, making them hard to get makes sense, but it's funny. Woohoo, after more than a week of useless events I finally got lucky again and now I'm on 11 crystals of energy. Almost enough for one Top Of The Line weapon. And while I'm happy at the moment, this kind of forced delay isn't really something you want to do for your players. It can you off easily... All the while I have 16 astral hearts (?), more than I ever need, and I can farm easier. Create C'Thiris Tesseract when changing IV. It opens up a limited time world each t8me you activate one of them. Difficult world, but if you crack every coffin you see (there were most looted), you get a few crystals of energy for the launch you have to be logged in to answer the subject. Energy crystals are an ingredient in Portal Knights, which is used to make vanity and higher-level gears such as an ancient ice ring, ancient ring of lights, ancient ring of thunder, crystallized fiery longbow, crystal staff creations, crystal cataclysm, Cumulos Storm Set, chromatic energy set and crystal solidified set. As well as many vanity items for the Knights portal.You're able to have stacks of 50 crystals of energy in Portal Knights, and they have a selling price of 20 Golden can see more Portal Knights guides such as how to get Coal.How to get energy crystals in Portal KnightsBelow, we will show you two known methods of how to get energy crystals in Portal Knights. If more methods become known, we will update the post. Energy Crystals From Events The Main Way to Find Energy Energy in Knights portal from cases. Events will appear on your world map after you have explored at least 4 islands. Some mobs that are known to drop energy crystals from events include: Bamboo, Baby and Striped Araktula during the invasion of the Araktula eventThunderstorm Crystal during the Electro Thunder Storm EventSandstorm Crystal during the sandstorm EventEvents can be found on your map, and the latter for 6 hours at a time. It's going to be a new event. Energy crystals from FarmingBy with C'Thiris Tesseract, you can enter the tomb of C'Thiris. It takes 10 stone blocks and one energy crystal to create. In the tomb of C'Thiris, you can kill Pir-Utan to get energy crystals. READ: Portal Knights: How to find CoalYou can get 1-3 energy crystals from mobs in the Knights portal in the tomb of C'Thiris. However, you will get more drops from the coffins that can be found on the walls and floors of the tomb. You can also find coffins on the outside of the pyramid. Make sure to destroy each coffin, as this is the easiest way to get energy crystals into Portal Knights. Energy crystals are an element of the late play in Portal Knights. They are a component of crafting in many end game elements, so if you've made it deep into the game, it's likely you'll need a ton of these things. The best way to farm energy crystals in the knights portal is by exploring the tomb of K'Tiris. (In some forum posts, users refer to it as the tomb of the pharaoh, but the tomb of K'Tiris is the official name.) The tomb can be accessed with the help of C'Thiris Tesseract, which you can craft from 10 stone blocks and 1 energy crystal. Of course, this is a problem if you don't have any energy crystals to begin with. So if you need one quickly to start the process, there is an early game quest that will reward you with one. First, you want to create a new world and you can make things a little easier for yourself if you set the size of the world for small. Restore each portal and travel from island to island until you come to Garnet Peaks. It's an island on your map right before the first boss battle, so it's pretty easy to find. If you don't take any wrong turns, this should be the fifth island you discover. You want to find Hector's Guard. It is not hard to find, as it hangs out in the entrance to one of the stone towers on the stage, and these towers are quite hard to miss. Hector will give you a quest called Guard Duty in which you have to kill five Thunder Gazers. If you're already working on endgame content, this quest should be easy. Just go to the dungeon and kill five storm gaskers, which, as the name suggests, are volatile creatures that try to zap you thunder. It's very easy, although you may have to leave the island and come back so more caviar in. in any dungeon run, and there is often only one tower on the island when your world size is small. Overall, the whole process should take you in 30-45 minutes if you are decked out with late-game tackles. Once you have an energy crystal, you can use it to make C'Thiris Tesseract and travel to the tomb of C'Thiris. Note that this is a level 35 area, so travel here before you hit the level of the madness cap. Many of the monsters in this part of the game are really hard. Asub'Krakens are particularly cruel. Once you are here, you will be given the quest to defeat the curse of C'Thiris, which means that you have to go down through the layers of the tomb and look for the curse and then destroy it. But it's not the curse you need. What you are actually looking for are sarcophaguses that have Cthul-esque creatures on them. Bust these open with a pickaxe and you get a bunch of loot. In particular, many of these sarcophagi have energy crystals inside. Just keep in mind that the loot is randomly generated, and energy crystals are still quite rare. There's also the chance that monsters will drop the energy of crystals, but the rate of fall seems extremely low, at least in my experience. There are other places to farm energy crystals too, but they are related to events. For example, if you manage to get an Araktula invasion event, you can farm a ton of these things pretty quickly. There are three types of Araktula that appear during this event: Baby Araktulas, Bamboo Araktulas, and Striped Araktulas. Each of those you kill has a small chance of dropping the energy crystal. Now, I'm not sure it's just a matter of luck, but I found striped Araktulas to have the highest drop rate. Of course, they're the hardest to kill, too. While these events seem to be the fastest way to farm energy crystals, they also depend on your world spawning in proper events that are randomized. No matter how you decide to farm energy crystals into the Knights portal, you have a little grind ahead of you. Good luck!
